

Tonight we have a surprise... a special award

Tonight we want to especially honor someone who is so core to our mission and so much at the heart of our work almost since its beginning.

It is important to tell stories and history has to be written.

We are so grateful we have a companion with intelligence, skills, and talent so that what we communicate with the world it is of the highest quality.

Our Peggy Ray has edited our Newsletter Dialogue for 17 years.

Peggy has listened, and written reports for more than 100 Living Room dialogues

After major conferences and workshops and our dialogue session with Dialogue Facilitators Peggy has written major reports and a book. She participated in the writing of our book on Modern Slavery

For many years she has been a vital part of the discussions and decision making on both the Board and staff of the Network for Peace.

Helen Corbie her companion as a board member for some years and her colleague in the 1996 Conference: "What do People Need" will present the award.
